THE MEETING AT BRIGHTON BEACH.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR THE RACES-AN INTER-ESTING LETTER FROM COLONEL OCHILTREE

-ENGLISH AND AMERICAN HORSES the country last week owing to the action by its officials in refusing the entries of Villiam C. Daly. It is not at all likely that such action would have been taken unless the officials nvinced that it was for the best interests of the turf. Aqueduct is a recent addition to the racetracks in this neighborhood. The men assodated with the track are practical, farsighted men, who are well aware that the fate of the turf depends upon pure and wholesome racing. Few men in the neighborhood of this city have had as much experience in racing as some of the men who watch over the destinies of Aqueduct. If any person elieves that Thomas Reilly will permit horse owners to race their horses without any regard patrons of the track the energetic action taken last week to prevent possible crookedness reassure him that offenders will be requested to race elsewhere. The Beach meeting begins on Wednesday nder the most favorable and auspicious condi-

The best horses in training are engaged in stakes, and the liberal purses are sure to attract good fields of high-class horses. New buildings have been erected, and the Brighton track is now one of the best equipped in the country. William Engeman intends to make many additional improvements in the future. It is generally conceded that the high standard of excellence arrived at by the Brighton association is almost certo attract many racegoers who have never een inside the gates of the Brighton racetrack. Under new auspices everything points to the suc-Now, if the managers desire to assure success of the coming meeting it is essential that a rigorous watch be kept upon many suspictous persons who have escaped punishment by kilfully covering up their tracks whenever they have attempted to fleece the public.

A GOOD EXAMPLE TO FOLLOW.

The Brighton managers should follow in the pathway of the Aqueduct managers and refuse the entries of men who own horses that are notorious "in-and-outers." If jockeys ride susdciously or carelessly, prompt measures should be taken to prevent their plying their vocation at Brighton. Then, there are some trainers who could easily be dispensed with to the lasting benefit of the turf. The Brighton Beach Racing Association possesses a golden opportunity to assume a at the head of American racing associations There is no valid reason why there should be any hesitation in relieving the turf of men who by their cupidity have caused many wealthy lovers of the turf to retire. But the miscreants are prominent at every race meeting. A vigorous campaign at Brighton for pure and wholesome racing might possibly arouse the Pharisees of the turf to take action when unaccountable changes of form crop out in high places on the turf. Not one of the en who are suspected of complicity with several trainers, jockeys and sometimes owners is any real

Not a single layer-of-odds would be present the racetrack if the opportunity presented to acquire money easily did not exist. With fair, st, truly run races the layers-of-odds have a vast percentage in their favor. Consequently layers-of-odds who are associated with evildoers on the turf should be cautioned and in some inrequested to practise their calling abrador, Greenland or Spitzbergen, where "dead ns" would be preserved indefinitely. Not a single -of-odds would contribute one dollar for tickets of admission to a racetrack unless he expected to get it back, with several others to keep it comricans in England have been causing Britons more or less trouble on account of the frepuency of the victories of American horses. It is lly conceded that St. Frusquin is at the top the list in the three-year-old division in England ersimmon is right with him, consequently there is nuch interest manifested in the result of the race for the St. Leger Stakes. Requital proved his superfority to the three-year-olds in this country by his easy victory for the Realization. If it were possible, an international race between Requital and the winner of the St. Leger, no matter whether it be Persimmon or St. Frusquin, would certainly attract about as much attention as a race for the America's Cup between the crack yachts of England and America. Such a race would draw an enormous crowd of spectators

A GREAT RACER.

Requital's victory in the Realization showed belikelihood of any haggling about the distance to be run. At any gate money racecourse, either in England or this country, a race between the champion three-year-olds of England and America would certainly make it an object to add at least $50,000 to such a race. The owners of the contestants could make the stakes as high as they pleased, and nobody, certainly not the layers of odds, would pre-vent them from going as far as they liked in the betting-ring.
Colonel Thomas P. Ochiltree writes from London

as follows: "I stopped over here on my way to Carlshad. I had a glorious week at Newmarket, where Wishard's American horses won four solid victories, and would have scored the fifth if Reiff had not mistaken the winning post. I witnessed the race for the Princess of Wales Stakes in comthe race for the Princess of Wales Stakes in com-pany with John Sanford, from the inclosure. It was superbly contested, and St. Frusquin won, al-though I believe that Persimmon will defeat him in the St. Leger, owing to the distance being greater. Regret is conceded by horsemen to be at least a stone (fourteen pounds) behind either St. Frusquin Lamber believe that Pomine could or Persimmon. I firmly believe that Domino could defeat St. Frusquin over any mile course in Eng-land, and that Henry of Navarre could win the Caesarovitch and the Ascot Gold Cup. The record made by the Wishard horses convinces me that horses of the calibre of Domino or Henry of Navarre would compete successfully with the best land). The St. Simon-Dart yearling colt sold for $25,000, and the average was high at all the sales. I believe that American breeders could export year-lings to England and realize higher prices than they

AMERICANS IN ENGLAND.

The Croker horses remain at Wantage. Americus is talked about as having a look-in for the Stewards' Cup at Goodwood, and Santa Anita is mentioned as a probability for the Liverpool Cup. Pierre Lorillard is greatly admired and respected by the English turfmen. The Lorillard horses have been resting. but are likely to win some more victories before the racing season ends in England.

but are likely to win some more victories before the racing season ends in England.

John J. McCafferty visited Kentucky last week and inspected the yearlings owned by Scoggan Brothers. McCafferty has decided to make an English campaign, but he intends to try his yearlings in this country before he ships them abroad. McCafferty is likely to attract much attention in England owing to his cowhoy style of "get there" Jockeyship. He certainly is competent to take care of himself in any country, and if the Britons doubt his money-getting ability, they can't make the odds too long for the unique Georgian. His picturesque appearance, with huge jingling Mexican spurs, his crouching attitude in the saddle and the short rein that he takes when riding a race are likely to cause the Britons any amount of amusement. But if McCafferty is on the best horse the amusement is almost certain to be extremely expensive to the men who take libertles with him and iay long odds against his chances.

William Sims does not express himself as if he believed the English lockeys were superior to American jockeys. He says: "The English are prejudiced against American horses and horsemanship. If an American horse, ridden by an American bokey, whis a race the spectators and the newspapers as well say: The horse was tons the best or he never could have won with that sort of a ride. I do not believe that the Englishmen are in it with our best American trainers would give him a mount. One thing, however, I will say: Nearly everybody in England is interested in racing, from the farmhand to the Prince, and racing appears to be so strongly placed that it is the best country of the two for a man with a stable of good horses."

August Belmont has met some of the accidents incidental to the sport of racing. The best horses in his stable have trained off, but John J. Hyland is an expert, and it is extremely probable that he will have the Elemont horses all right and ready to race when the Sheepshead Bay meeting begins.

THE DEATH NOT UNEXPECTED.

The death of Rayon d'Or was not wholly unexpected, as that great horse began to wane and relegated to the stud unless Mr. Belmont purchases a. stallion to take his place. As Mr. Belmont is in English turf will be secured to take Rayon d'Or's place. The death of Rayon d'Or is not nearly so seripus to Mr. Belmont as the appearance of catarrhal fever on the Nursery Farm. August Belmont is too true a sportsm in to permit the series of disasters true a sportsm in to permit the series of disasters that have overtaken his turf ventures to interfere that have overtaken his turf ventures to interfere with his turf plans for the future. Every true turf-with his turf plans for the future. Every true turf-man fervently hopes for the return of fortune's smile to the Belmont stable and breeding establishment.

man fervently hopes for the Fettin of smile to the Belimont stable and breeding establishment.

James B. Haggin, who has been in poor health for nearly a year, intends to return to the turf. His business affairs are now arranged so that he is able to enjoy some recreation, after many long years of assiduous attention to business. Mr. Haggin is a liberal sportsman, and ten years ago his colors were well known to racegoers. Horses owned by him won many of the important races on the turf. Salvator, Firenzi, Hidalgo, Ben Fox, King Fox, Ben Ali and many other horses that gained fame on the turf wore the Haggin colors. The return of James P Haggin to the turf should cause other breeders to train and race horses under their own colors. W. H. Jackson, of Belle Meade, should aid in building up the turf by racing some of the produce of the Belle Meade farm.

Unless the breeders are satisfied to raise yearlings and sell them for $25 each, they should train horses of their own breeding, thereby educating jockeys and trainers, besides making the turf popular. Moreover, every breeder in the country should unite in an effort to prevent another reign of terror on the turf such as existed at the spring meeting at Sheepshead Bay. Everybody in any manner associated with breeding or racing throughtheds should endeavor to assist in freeing the turf from the unscrupulous rascals that have brought about the present state of affairs on the turf, which is reflected in the low prices realized at the yearling sales.

Nearly every horse-owner is radically opposed to sales.

Nearly every horse-owner is radically opposed to the system of guaranteed stakes. A prompt return to the added money methods of the old days, with a cash entrance to accompany each nomination and subsequent payments, is earnestly advocated by all classes of horse-owners, who are not directly interested in racetrack property.

FAST TROTTERS OF 1896.

STATISTICS OF THE HARNESS RACING CAMPAIGN.

MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED HORSES HAVE TROTTED IN 2:20 OR BETTER THIS YEAR-TO-MORROW'S BIG STAKE RACE

AT DETROIT.

Judging from the unusually large number of fas records made thus far in 1896, there are more high class trotters on the turf this year than for many seasons past, if not, indeed, more than ever before Although the Grand Circuit campaign is just beginmore than one hundred trotters have already the faster performances are little short of being Many of the best horses, such as Mrs. W. E. D. Stokes's prospective turf queen, Beuzetta, have not yet started in public this season, their as-tute trainers reserving them for the rich purses annually offered at Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo and other cities in the line of Grand Circuit meetings. Other fast ones, like the New-York flyers, Baron Crisp, Page and Cephas, that have fallen into soft places up to this stage of the campaign must soon meet their equals at the big meetings, with the result that their records will take another drop.

THE DETROIT MEETING. The Detroit meeting, which is usually the first great contest of the year, is on this week at the Grosse Pointe course on the banks of Lake St. Clair. Always a popular meeting among New-York horsemen, it will be more than ever so this season and hereafter, ex-President Matthew Riley, of the Driv-ing Club, of New-York, having recently become a heavy stockholder and treasurer of the Detroit Driving Club, under whose auspices the "Blue Ribbon" meeting is held. Another thing which adds interest to the Western meeting is the fact that a New-York trotter now looks like the probable winner of the classic Merchants and Manufacturers' Stakes, the richest class race of the season, and this year about $13,000. Ever since Baron Crisp made his first appearance at the Brooklyn halfmile track in the interclub wagon races for amareinsmen last spring, he has gone on winning ease every trotter he has met, and it is now all but certain that he will start favorite for the M. and M. cludes no less than twenty-eight horses this year, first-rate chance, his present record of 2:12% being two seconds faster than that of any other starter, while he has already met and defeated several of his most formidable rivals. Among these is Dione, Spreckels, and driven by Orrin Hickok, of St. Julien Eastern trotter gained his record of 2:1214 at Chicago last month, this being the first time she had ever started in a race. It is believed in some quarters that Hickok will lay up the first heat or two with Dione while the others try to tire Baron Crisp, and then go on with a fresh mare in an effort to heat the that he is a great racer favorite. Some of the other prospective starters are Supplee Brothers, of Bryn Mawr, Penn.; the un-

Granville Cecil, of Danville, Ky.; Charles Nolan's Philadelphia trotter Fascination, 2:174, by Epaulet: Eliquette, 2:194, by Alcantara, owned by W. E. Spier, Glens Falls, N. Y.; John Mariner's Miss Anne, 2:124, by Egolist; C. J. Hamlin's Valence, 2:173, by Mambrino King; the much-talked-of Detroit road horse Peter, 2:174; George Starr's entry, the brown gelding Porter, 2:174; George Starr's entry, the brown gelding Porter, 2:175, by Brignoli Wilkes; Joseph H. Thayer's Kentucky horse Lee Simmons, 2:154, by Simmons, and several other fast ones. In the seven years that the M. and M. has been a fixture at Detroit the fastest time made by any winner was scored last year by The Corporal, who drotted a heat in 2:135, but this rate of speed will hardly do for to-morrow's contest if the track should be fast and horses at their best.

The table appended comprises all of the trotters having gained new records of 2:20 or better in 1886, the first column giving the animal's mark as it stood at the beginning of the campaign, while the second column shows the best record of each horse for this year. The speed honors, it will be seen, belong to Kentucky Union, who trotted in 2:294 at Peoria, Ill., July 4. Western horsemen now predict that the white-faced chestnut daughter of Aberdeen will be the star trotter of 1896, her present fast record being, it is said, no measure of her speed. Close after her in point of demonstrated speed is the sterling campaigner Bravado, by Kentucky Wilkes, 2:214, out of Alicia by Messenger Duroc. He has won all his races easily thus far and is said to be able to beat 2:10 whenever occasion may require. Bravado was bred by General B. F. Tracy at his Marshland Stock Farm, in Tloga County. The horse has been hammered about the country ever since he was old enough to trot, and considering the treatment he has had, he is one of the best campaigners ever seen on the turf. General Tracy sold him as a yearling in 1888. He is now in the hands of Charles P. Doble, a younger brother of Budd Doble, who was for

FOUR-VEAR-OLDS OF THE YEAR.

The four-year-olds of 1896 are a remarkable lot, three of them standing almost at the head of the list of the season's fastest trotters. Stam B., who took a record of 2:11% in a winning race at Napa Cal., a few days ago, is said to be the coming horse Cal., a few days ago, is said to be the coming horse of the Pacific Coast country. The great colt was got by E. H. Harriman's trotting stallion Stamboul, 2:07½, and ...s dam was Belle Medium, 2:29, by Happy Medium. Vipsania, 2:16½, a bay filly by West Wilkes, the son of Simmons, now ranks as the fastest three-year-old trotter of the season, although the record of Stanley B., a bay colt by Andy C., the son of Princeton, 2:16%, is only a quarter of a second slower. Both youngsters opened the season in the 3:90 class and gained their fast records in their first races. The list of 2:20 trotters for 1896 follows:

ENTRIES AT LONGWOOD.

Boston, July 19 (Special).-Over fifty entries have which opens here to-morrow. The list is the largest ever made up for a Longwood meeting, and What gives the tournament its special interest is States, will appear as one of the competitors for the cup now held by W. A. Larned. Hovey has won the cup twice, in 1892 and 1896, but for the atter's absence abroad will, of course, render is that if Hovey wins the All-Comers', the trophy will become his permanent property. Besides the large number of Massachusetts cracks who will take part, the entry list will be reinforced by many take part, the entry list will be reinforced by many of the players who have been competing in the canadian championship in the last week. Among the more prominent are Richard Stevens, the veteran base-line player; J. P. Paret, the Southern champion; Clarence R. Budlong, of Brown University; H. E. Avery, the well-known Datroit crack; J. F. Talmage, jr., of Brooklyn; M. D. Whitman, Leo Ware, R. H. Carleton and R. T. Forbes, of Harvard; N. P. Williston, A. P. Hawes, W. K. Shaw and W. D. Dexter, of this city, and many others.

Besides the cup matches, there will be a National handicap played in conrection with the tournament, in which over sixty players have entered. Every effort has been made by the committee in charge to make this latter contest, which is a new departure, a success, in the hope of developing the younger material.

FALL MEETING AT MORRIS PARK. Secretary Crickmore, of the National Steeple-chase Association, makes the following announcenent to owners of cross-country horses: ment to owners of cross-country horses;

It is the intention of the stewards of the New-York Steeplechase Association to have at least a two-day meeting at Morris Park in October in conjunction with the autumn meeting of the West-chester Racing Association.

OBITUARY.

Father Andrew Ziegler, who was rector of the East Third-st. branch of the Redemptorist Order n this city for over nine years, died at their headmorning. He had resigned his charge in this dioese in 1893, and was stationed at Baltimore, but visit to his former colleagues. He was seized on Thursday with an apoplectic stroke, and as his death was imminent on Friday, he received the sacraments of the Church on that day. This was his third stroke of apoplexy, the second attack havng occurred two years ago. Father Ziegler was born in Oberwestern, Bavaria on February 4, 1836. He received his early education there and came to this country at the age of eighteen to study for the priesthood. He studied in Maryland at the colleges in Cumberland and Annapolis, and was ordained at Annapolis on April 1, 1865, in the Redemptorist Order. He was first appointed curate, and later became pastor of St. Alphonsus's Church, in Baltimore; of st. James's Church, in Baltimore, and finally, in 1884, was called to act as rector of the Church of the Holy Redeemer, the branch of the Re-demptorist Order in East Third-st., New-York, His failing health obliged him to resign his pastorate here, and he returned to St. James's Church, in Baltimore, where he occupied the position of as-Father Ziegler acted for several years as Archbishop Corrigan's consultor in this diocese. He founded two churches in the city, the Bohemian Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help, in East Sixty-first-st., between Avenue A and First-ave., of which Father Joseph Hild is pastor, and St. Mary's Church, in One-hundred-and-fiftieth-st., which is under the charge of Father John Leibfritz, formerly of the East Third-st, branch of the Redemptorist Order. Father Ziegler was appointed by Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, to act with Father Wirth as a committee to carry to Rome the papers regard the proposed canonization of Bishop the first Catholic bishop of Philadelphia, when that ase was brought before the Committee of Examnation. The papers were presented to His Holiness, and the case is pending. Bishop Neuman's

St. Peter's Church, at Philadelphia.

Before Father Ziegier's resignation of his New York pastorate in 1893, at which time he had six assistants under his charge, he started a thorough enovation of the church. This was interrupted by renovation of the church. This was interrupted by his departure and completed by his successor Father Tewes. Father Ziegler was well versed his the topics of the day, thoroughly esteemed by his parishioners, and noted for unusual executive ability. He leaves a sister, Mrs. Katherine Schlekking of this city. The funeral services will be held to morrow at the Church of the Holy Redeemer, No. 171 East Third-st., at 10 a. m. The office will begin at 9:30 p. m. The Rev. Ferdinand Litz, Provincial Father of the branch at East Third-st. will officiate. Either Archbishop Corrigan or Bishop Farley will attend, it is expected. The burial will be at the convenience of the order.

He was an active member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was one of the founders of the copal Church, and was one of the founders of the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church, in Hackensack. His father was a minister, and his only son, the Rev. Frank D. Gamewell, is now a missionary in China. Mr. Gamewell has five daughters. One of them is the wife of Dr. M. M. Heath, one is Mrs. J. L. Burns and another is the wife of the Rev. Dr. Tuttle, of Newark.

WANTED THE USUAL FEE. From The Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

From The Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

A good story was told lately of Commodore March, of March's Point, Pidaigo Island, whose ready wit is well known to the habitues of the Hotel Butler, and, indeed, all over the Sound. The Commodore was called as a witness in the Point Roberts dispute between the cannery men and the Indians, and the lawyer on the other side, with a "what-can-you-do-about-it air," put the question to him:

"How long have you been in this part of the country, Mr. March as a pretty chin, and he shaves his white whiskers to each side to show it off. When the question was so suddenly put, he softly caressed the pretty chin and slowly and meditatively said, as to himself.

"Forty, forty-five, fifty," and at length answered: "Fifty-five years." said the lawyer, and then, as if he were addressing Christopher columbus, asked: "And what did you discover, Mr. March."

"A dark-visaged savage, ch? Yes; and what did you say to him?"

"I said it was a fine day."

"Fine day? Yes, and what did he say to you?"

Mr. March, ratiled off a whole yarn in Chinook, and kept on to the mirth of the whole courtroom, until peremptorily cut off by the gavel of the Judge.

"I asked you what reply the savage made to you, Mr. March. Please answer the question," said the irate cross-examiner.

"I was answering.

"T asked you what reply the savage made to you, Mr. March. Please answer the question," said the trate cross-examiner.

"I was answering."
"Theil us what the savage said?"
"Then tell it to us in English?"
"Not unless I am commissioned by the Court to act as interpreter and paid the customary fee."
The lawyer thought a moment, looked at the Judge, who could not resist a smile, and said severely, "Mr. March, you may stand down."

THE QUESTION OF SENIORITY OF POSTS DECIDED.

question of disputed sentority of posts, which arises at nearly every large parade, by calling attention to Section 4, Chapter 2, Article I, Rules and Regulations, which reads as follows:

The rank of posts shall be determined by date of the charter under which they are acting.

There is no room for doubt or argument in this gulation. The language is clear and concise, and cannot be misconstrued. In forming parades or on any occasion where precedence is insisted upon, the number of the post will not be considered, and the posts will take up position according to the date of their charters. Commanders who refuse to follow this rule are liable to court-martial on a charge of infringement of the regulations.

sary for the comrades of George Washington Post No. 103 to look for a new home. Nearly from the time of its organization Washington Post, whose time of its organization Washington Post, whose regulation uniform is the claw-hammer coat and low-cut waistcoat of evening dress, has held its stated encampments in this well-known hostlery, now numbered among New-York's defunct taverns. Commander Horace Porter has appointed a commi tee to seek new quarters for the post.

A peremptory writ of mandamus has been asked for in the Supreme Court for the reinstatement of John Moran, a veteran who was removed by the managers of the Long Island State Hospital as assistant engineer at the Flatbush Asylum when the institution was turned over to the State. Gen-eral Horace C. King, counsel for Moran, averred that his client was discharged last May for alleged disobedience of orders, but without a hearing. The alleged disobedience consisted, it is said, in refusing to work at steamfitting, he not having been em-ployed for such work. His refusal was in accordance with the rules governing the Association of Engineers. The law of 1894 forbids the removal of veteran without a hearing. In his application for a veteran without a hearing. In his application for a mandamus General King says:

The laws should be liberally construed toward the veteran. At the present rate of mortality the body politic will not be bothered with many of us after the close of the nineteenth century. As Justice Gaynor has pathetically expressed it, in a recent decision reinstating Edward Murray as keeper of the Blissville Bridge. The number of applications like this which veterans have to make to the courts is remarkable. The veterans of the late war are even already grown so few in number as no longer to be a political factor, but the smaller the number grows the more sacredly the laws in their favor ought to be observed. In a few years more none, or very few, of them will be there. Is the rôle of the old solder played out?"

Counsel for defendants declared that the dismissal was warranted. Decision was reserved.

Bishop with one on "Our Double Environment." The body, she said, is the environment of the soul, and this, in turn, is environed by dress, which exerts an influence upon character that is not fully understood or realized by the majority of people of realized by the majority of people. She gave some-thing of the history of dress, and said that the high-est freedom is from one's self, and emancipation is never complete so long as we are conscious of anything in our double environment, the body and the dress with which it is clothed. Fashion in dress follows fashion in thought, and the significance of thought that has set its mark on the last haif of the

Dr. George Adam Smith, of Glasgow, finished his course of lectures on Hebrew poetry with one on Our Mother of Sorrows."

The Rev. A. H. Byles, of Bradford, England, spoi on the "Pleasant Sunday Afternoon Movement". The object of the movement is to reach a class of nection with the Church and religion. The English workingman is unconventional and cares nothing for dogmas or denomination, and, while the meetings are entirely of a religious character, consisting of hymns and Bible reading, with an address, and are held in a church, they are not called religious, bu "pleasant Sunday afternoons." The motto of the society is "Brief, Bright, Brotherly," and only one hour of time is taken, the address consuming only fifteen or twenty minutes at most. There are 1,500 of these societies in England, and they reach by this these societies in England, and they reach by this movement a large class of people who would never otherwise come into a church building. Mr. Byles said that he had spent eighteen months in America in the interests of this society, and had started in Omaha what he believed to be the first "Pleasant Sunday Afternoon Meeting." On the second Sunday the "Boy Orator of the Platte" was to speak, and the place was crowded. But he spoke for fifty minutes. There was no opportunity to pull his coat tall. There was no opportunity to pull his coat tall and invite him to stop, and that speech of Bryan's killed the movement of the Pleasant Sunday After noon Society in Omaha for the present, at least.
